

Dr. MURAKAMI Noriyuki
Japan

Dr. MURAKAMI Noriyuki is the Deputy Director-General of Research Center for Agricultural Information Technology (RCAIT) and Deputy-Head of Research Center for Agricultural Robotics (RCAR) at the National Agriculture and Food Research Organization (NARO). His research focus is on agricultural robots and information and communications technologies in agriculture.

He was awarded Ph.D. from Kyoto University, Japan, in 2000. After working for National Agricultural Research Center, Tsukuba, Japan as a researcher, moved to Hokkaido Agricultural Experiment Station (reorganized as the Hokkaido Agricultural Research Center in 2006), Japan, in 1998. Current position since 2021. Visiting scientist at The Robotics Institute of Carnegie Mellon University, U.S.A. from 2000 to 2001.