

Dr. SANADA Sachiyo, NARO
Japan

Profile

Dr. SANADA Sachiyo is a Leader in Institute for Plant Protection, NARO. She received her Ph.D. in agriculture from the Tokyo University of Agriculture and Technology in 1999. She had involved in the research projects of insecticide resistance management and development of pest control technology in overseas migration insect pests since being employed by NARO in 2008. Her research interest is mainly developing of the methods for monitoring insecticide susceptibility for insecticide resistance management and technology of pest control in overseas migration insect pests by genetic and ecological approaches. She has also been jointed in forecast technologies of overseas migration and occurrence timings in crop field in insect pests. She had received the awards of NARO research prize 2010 and 2022.